AMONG THE STRIKERS.

CHICAGO, May 15.—[Special]— On Thursday every switchman in the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company—200 in this city and 300 employed at points along the line—was discharged and paid off. The company chose this hour as the most convenient to notify both the day and night men that their services would no longer be required.General Manager Whitman of the road reports that so far there has been no trouble or disturbance occasioned by the lockout. The road has been preparing for this action during the past two months, and for every man discharged there was another ready to take his place. Yardmaster Frank McInerney, whose discharge the switchmen demanded and enforced by a tie-up during General Manager Whit-man's illness six weeks ago was reinstated and took charge of the new dispatching business. On account of the men being always ready to strike on the slightest provocation the train service has been unsatisfactory to the public and to the company itself, and now he proposes to put a stop to it. A few weeks ago, after the trouble caused by Yardmaster Mc-Inerney, a canvass was made of the 1,071 locomotive engineers in the employ of the Northwestern by representatives of the company. Every man promised to stand by the company in case a strike or lockout should be inaugurated. They sympathized with McInerney.The officials of the company say this is not a fight against the Switchmen's union. Their men, as in many other yards, have frequently quit work without a moment's warning and without the sanction of the union. The company will probably hire men without discrimination, but will not be dictated to any longer.The circular announcing the discharge of the switchmen stated that in reorganizing the switching service preference would be given to such men previously employed as were, in the judgment of the company, capable and worthy, otherwise the positions would at once be filled by other men arranged for.
Quite a number availed themselves of the offer and went to work with the new men, and the company claims that with its new force it has been able to handle all its possible all the suburban business, and perishable freight.About 300 policemen are stationed at different points in the city. About fifty men of this force were stationed at each of the North avenue and Wood street yards, the most threatening points. The precaution of massing a larger force at these two points than at any other proved a wise one, as mobs of angry switchmen assembled at both places. They were excited and demonstrative, but refrained from any serious outbreak, being apparently overawed by the superior force of police. The company claims that it is being supported by all the orders belonging to the Federation of Railway Employees except the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association. All trainmen are doing the work of the discharged switchmen.This wholesale discharge of men is one of the most important events that has occurred in the railroad history of this city and if the company comes out ahead will be followed by results of the utmost importance to the traveling public. Should the plan adopted by the Northwestern road prove successful the switchmen on other roads will think twice before striking on June 1, as has been arranged. Owing to the great financial loss and danger to property and life caused by strikes of the switchmen other roads have been afraid to adopt the bold plan inaugurated by the Northwestern road, but if this step proves a success other roads have signified their intention of following suit.
No railroad company in the United States has ever had the nerve to discharge at one time all the men in any single department of the road. This fact makes this affair of worldwide interest, and the fact that this is not a strike, but a plain discharge for insubordination places the company on an entirely different footing than has been the case heretofore when trouble between the management and employees was pending.

RALEIGH'S BIG DISPLAY OPEN.

The Permanent Southern Exposition Given
To The Public.RALEIGH, N. C., May 15.—[Special]— The permanent exhibit which the fourteen southern states and New Mexico and Arizona have joined in establishing in this city, opened today, and from October 1 to December 1, a great southern exposition will be held.
One of the most interesting features is an exhibit showing the advancement of the colored race. This branch is managed exclusively by colored men.
Each southern state has a special colored commissioner, who has control over the exhibit from his state. It is expected that this branch of the exhibit will, in itself, draw thousands of people to the capitol of the Old North State to learn of the progress made by these people, who, less than a generation ago, were in slavery.

"SLASH" GOES RATES AGAIN.

Home Seeker' Excursions Resumed By Roads Leading From Chicago.CHICAGO, May 15.—[Special]— Despite railroad meetings and recent agreements, a series of five "Home Seeker" excursions to western points began to-day. The question whether these excursions should be revived or not, has agitated managers and general passenger agents for months past.
They have invariably had the effect of demoralizing rates throughout a wide territory, and the majority of roads are strongly opposed to them on the ground that they are detrimental to the regular business.

FEAR BOERS HAVE STOLEN A MARCH.

England's Charter for a New Republic
Very Liberally Constructed.LONDON, May 15.—[Special]—
The government is looking at the situation in South Africa with a critical eye. It has been learned in Cape Town that the force of Boers that proposed to establish the Republic of the North, is composed of 20,000 men, instead of 5,000. According to the announced plan these warlike farmers will assemble on the southern bank of the Limpopo river to-day and the rest the north, and cross June 1.

THE POPE'S VIEWS.

Synopsis of the Much Talked of Encyclical

ROME, May 15.—The following is a resume of the pope's encyclical on the labor question—the most important document that has emanated from the vatican in recent years. The treatise in its Latin form consists of fifty-seven quarto pages.After a short introduction, in which the importance and difficulty of the labor question is referred to, and the imperative demand for its speedy solution noted, the encyclical portion is divided into three parts. The first part, which is the most important, is devoted to the question of the rights of labor. The pope states that the rights of labor are not new, but have been recognized by the church since the time of the apostles. He states that the rights of labor are not to be sacrificed to the rights of capital, but that they are to be recognized and protected. He states that the rights of labor are to be recognized and protected by the church, and that the church is to be the guardian of the rights of labor.

munication, but there is one telephone line in operation between the capital and a small fishing village six miles distant.A new cable has recently been laid between Suez and Aden to accommodate the increased Anglo-Australian business resulting from the reduced cable rates.An apocryphal story comes from what is said to be a conservative English source to the effect that an incandescent lamp was burned for 11,561 hours and was then removed from the holder with the filament unbroken.At Minneapolis the street railway company is experimenting with a new electric motor, the invention of a workman in the company's shop. If it is successful it will be used upon the St. Paul line. It is said to be a stationary armature machine with no wire upon the field, and the commutator is upon a separate shaft.The welding of aluminum with glass is a discovery claimed by Bradford McCreigh, city says he has exhibited a large piece of aluminum with a glass tube in the center and that "when turned on a lathe" the two appear as one homogeneous mass,

Paris and suburbs, 9,200; Lyons, 500;
Marseilles, 600; Bordeaux, 500; Lille, 450; Reims, 400; Roubaix, 350; Tourcoing, 500; Nancy, 170; Cannes, St. Etienne, Saintes, Troyes, and St. Quentin have about 150, and then some thirty towns from fifty to 100 subscribers. The total is only about 15,000 down to the fifty limit.It is proposed to form a mutual benefit society of the men employed on electric railroads throughout the country, with headquarters in Boston. Employees to be eligible for membership must be between the ages of twenty-one and fifty, must have some knowledge of electricity as applied to railroads, and must have worked on an electric road for six months. The admission fee will be $2, with quarterly dues of $1. When a member dies each man will be assessed from 50 cents to $1 for funeral expenses, etc., and in case of illness a member will be allowed $7 a week for a month, with further relief when necessary. The organizers propose to have the whole country divided into districts, with headquarters in each, all subject to the Boston lodge. If a member is out of employment the order will seek to find a position for him, if worthy, and in case of necessity will advance him money.Very beautiful and stylish are the new terns run to the buds and blossoms of all

Which One is It!Doctors Unite in the Belief That He Knows More Than He Is Willing to Show.Great Violence Shown by The Patient at a Late Hour Last Night. Later Details.That E. J. Chapin has been confined in an insane asylum, there is little doubt. Physicians fear that he is now insane. His actions have convinced physicians that such is the case.That Chapin understands what is going on about him has been a conviction with the attendants. That he knows what is said to him is also known by the fact that he is very careful not to eat or drink anything until he has made up his mind what it is. When told "this is tea," he drinks it without a sign of fear.His appetite is good, and he now eats beefsteak and potatoes with evident relish. His pulse is nearly normal. One doctor who diagnosed the case decided that Chapin had been afflicted with a brain disorder before.
That this is so there can be little doubt, ifLast evening, in a fit of insanity or delirium, he rose up and dashed the bottles and dishes from the floor; refused to take his medicine, and threshed about the room like a mad man.Several incoherent words dropped in his wild tantrum, strengthened the belief that Chapin came from Chicago, and it is believed that he has been an agent for Sharpe & Clarke, tanners.

WORK RUINED A PASTOR.

Rev. Mr. Martin Lays His Downfall to Over-Exertion.Over work is given as the primary cause of the disappearance of the Rev.
R. L. Martin from his pastorate at Evansville. Mr. Martin was called on to preach the times every Sunday and his other duties crowded in upon him until his nerves gave way.
Stimulants seemed to be the only remedy to restore his shattered nerves, but the preacher soon found that the relief was only temporary. Feeling that the only way to prevent the habit of drink gaining a firm hold upon his system was to get away from the heavy work of his pastorate, he suddenly left town without informing his congregation of his whereabouts.
His destination was the Washington

his clerical duties.JUDGE WALLACE RENDERS AN IMPORTANT

CAN FOREST FIRES BE STOPPED?

The forest fires now raging in different parts of the country carry a stern warning of what may happen if we continue to neglect measures for their prevention. This year these forest fires are unusually widespread. Two weeks ago they were started among the pines of New Jersey, and men, women and children had to flee to save their lives. Now lumber and farming towns are threatened in Wisconsin with annihilation. In Michigan many villages have been wiped out, and men, women and children fought the flames day and night. At Manistee, on Lake Michigan, there has been no rain since the snow disappeared, and results are feared as disastrous as those of the great fires of 1870.

The fact that these forest fires occur year after year with every spring drouth and die out only from lack of material or because of opportune rains, shows clearly that there is a lack of definite precautions on the subject. The destruction is enormous. The New York Tribune is responsible for the statement that in the census year of 1880 more than 10,000,000 acres were burned over in the United States, and over $25,000,000 worth of property was consumed. With proper precautions nearly all this might have been saved. Most of the present fires have doubtless sprung from flames kindled by farmers to clear their land, at a time when the floor of the woods was thickly strewn with tinder-dry brush and leaves. A few weeks later, when the trees are leafy and full of sap, this danger would have been greatly diminished. But a fire which, through carelessness or inadvertence, once gains headway in a dry forest may utterly defy human efforts to arrest it.

The time to fight a forest fire is when it begins. That, unfortunately, is just the time when nobody pays any heed to it. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and it is only when homes and lives are endangered that those threatened unite in a common cause. A pretty theory favors the creation of broad alleys in the forests, designed to break the journey of the flames. These have been tried in Europe, and are a part of the forest-planting scheme in Kansas. But what alleyway could stop conflagrations like those in Michigan, where blazing brands are caught up by the wind and carried for hundreds of yards? An organized fire patrol, on the other hand, could probably perform effective service. There is always smoke from a growing fire to show its whereabouts, and immediate recognition of a duty to extinguish it would be an important first step. Years ago forests in this country were considered an inhospitable incumbrance, to be got rid of as cheaply as possible. Now, their value is better appreciated. But comprehensive measures for their preservation have yet to be devised.

ROCK RIVER SHOULD BE IN LINE.

□ A Nebraska sugar-beet grower is responsible for the following startling prediction: "Within one decade the states west of Ohio will produce enough beet-sugar to supply the entire demand of the country, and that notwithstanding the alleged cheapness of the cane product. The home-made and home-grown product will supplant the foreign article." Illinois, Nebraska, and California have the best soil for the growth of sugar producing beets. Capitalists have great confidence in the future of this industry and are investing large sums in it. I have just completed two refineries—one at Grand Island, Neb., and the other at Pomona, Cal.—the cost of each being $600,000. We shall begin work on another plant at Norfolk, Neb., next month." With all this richness in sight it seems as if Rock county should not sit in the back ground. Why not have the county's sugar-growing capacity tested?

Evidently there is a good chance for Yankee school ma'ams over in the Canadian dominion. At a recent public school examination in Toronto, answers were given as follows: "Quebec is the capital of the United States." "The Arctic Ocean flows into the Mississippi." "The Pacific Ocean flows into the Hudson Bay." The Gulf of Mexico flows into the Arctic Ocean." "An estuary is land less than 1,000 feet high above the level of the sea." "A valley is water lying between hills." "A valley is the top of a mountain." "A lake is a piece of land with water all a round it." "The products of Canada are oats, meal, turkeys and figs." "A watershed is a shelter place for ships."

That ocean grey-hound, the City of Paris, after being laid up for a year undergoing repairs, left Liverpool on Wednesday for New York, her captain being confident of the ship's power to reduce the time of the western passage seven hours. The City of Paris now carries the champion pennant, her time being five days, nineteen hours, and eighteen minutes. The racer will be due in New York on Monday, and sea-faring men are watching the vessel with more than ordinary interest.

The chief of the government bureau of statistics expresses the encouraging opinion that corn will not go below 40 cents a bushel when the new crop is gathered, and he makes no condition as to the size of the crop. "I am satisfied," says Chief Statistician Brock, "that the home need, and the export trade will not let the price go below 40 cents." If this opinion shall be verified farmers have a near future of greater prosperity than they have enjoyed for a long time.

General Miles, on making his recent visit to Mexico, was met at the Rio Grande by Mexican officers and escorted to the capitol and back again on his return. In the city of Mexico he was entertained by President Diaz, and a fine review of troops was held in his honor.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

A Sensational Writer.

H. RIDER HAGGARD.

H. Rider Haggard is about thirty-seven years of age, and is a native of England. He married an English woman of good family in 1879. For some years he practiced law in England, and his books "Dawn," and "The Witch's Head," published in 1884 and 1885, produced little effect. But since the publication of "King Solomon's Mines," which was very shortly followed by "She," buyers and readers everywhere have chosen to write have not been lacking.

MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Great Devastation Caused in Michigan by Boundless Forest Fires.

BALDWIN, Mich., May 15.—Over 100 homeless women and children are here, sheltered and fed by charity, while the men have returned whence they were driven by the fires to see if anything remains worth saving.

HART, Mich., May 15.—Fully two score of families are here destitute, having walked 30 miles to escape the fires, leaving homes and everything behind them.

WHITE CLOUD, Mich., May 15.—Recent rains have subdued the forest fires in this vicinity. Hundreds of families are destitute within 25 miles of here and many hundreds will have nothing to eat save what charitable people give them. Some of them are badly burned.

GAYLORD, Mich., May 15.—The home of Robert Duke, a farmer of Remington, Montgomery county, has been burned and two of his children perished.

LEITCHFORD, Mich., May 15.—The last one of the inhabitants of Walkerville, which burned Sunday, has now been heard from, and the first report of a number of lives lost proves untrue. Those who escaped had nothing but their wearing apparel, and are in destitute circumstances.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—Railroad dispatches from the districts affected by forest fires show that the situation, while not at present threatening to railroad companies, is most grave. Thomas M. Costello, an extensive lumber owner along the line of the Omaha, places his loss at $200,000. The distress among settlers along the lines of the railroads is great. Although many families have stayed by their homesteads, it is thought that no lives have been lost. Duluth, Ashland and Superior are full of people driven out of the woods. Five miles from South Superior the country presents a most desolate appearance. The expanse of charred ground seems almost boundless. There is very little but charred stumps.

ILLINOIS.

Proceedings in Both Branches of the Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—The house entered upon the calendar of bills for the first reading, and advanced a large number of bills in order of first reading. After a long debate the house refused to send the world's fair bill appropriating $1,000,000 to the appropriation committee, by a vote of 77 to 92. It was ordered to a second reading. The committee on license reported a committee bill as a substitute for Mr. McInerney's measure. It makes it unlawful for parents or guardians to send minors to saloons for minors to go into saloons and for saloon keepers to sell liquor to minors.

The world's fair bill was ordered to a second reading by the senate, and made the special order for Wednesday next. One bill advanced to a second reading was that to prevent any person sending a minor into a saloon to purchase intoxicating liquor under a penalty of $200. The bill putting the question of licensing saloons in cities of less than 15,000 inhabitants to the direct vote of the people was ordered to a third reading. The bill forbidding the counterfeiting of disembody spirits (in other words public spiritualistic manifestations) passed—28 to 2.

MICHIGAN.

A Measure Regulating the Killing of Game Agreed to by the House.

LANSING, Mich., May 15.—The senate passed a bill providing that all arrests of state bounties due soldiers under a recent decision of the supreme court shall be paid at once. The house passed the bill appropriating $30,000 for the expenses of the national G. A. R. encampment in Detroit next summer. The house committee of the house agreed to the bill for the protection of game after amending it so that deer may be killed on the upper peninsula only. Wild turkeys may be killed from November 1 to December 15, woodcock from August 15 to December 15, wild duck, wild geese and other water fowl and snipe from September 1 to December 15.

THE WRONG DUDE.

SAD FATE OF A ROUGH WHO DEMANDED CIGARETTES FROM AN INOFFENSIVE BEING.

The cars which run after midnight usually contain one or two who may at that unseemly hour enjoy the privilege of a smoke. Such a car from one of the suburbs was boarded by a dapper little dude who was smoking a cigarette. He was dressed in immaculate linen, evening dress and overcoat, and weighed probably from 115 to 120 pounds. His face was pale, and altogether he looked as though a good puff of wind would blow him away.

At the next crossing a big, burly fellow, apparently a bosom friend of Bacchus, got on board. He eyed Mr. Dude for a minute or two, and finally blurted out:

"Say, sonny! Give us a cigarette?" The dude said not a word but reached into his coat pocket and drew forth the required article, which he handed to his unwelcome companion.

The latter was evidently primed for a bit of fun, a row, or anything else that came along. He reached over and took the dude's lighted weed from the latter's mouth, lit his own, and casting a look of scorn at his small victim threw the borrowed tobacco stick away.

Mr. Dude calmly lit another cigarette, without deigning to resent the insult. The burly one smoked in silence for two or three minutes, then threw the remnant of the cigarette away, saying:

"Say! Give us a cigarette?" "I gave you one," replied the dude. "Give us a cigarette! Yeh hear?" roared the burly, advancing threateningly.

But the little fellow didn't frighten a little bit. He merely answered:

"I gave you one." "Dern yer! Give us a cigarette!" yelled the now infuriated burly, clutching at the coat collar of the dude and doubling his fist.

Just then there was a sudden movement on the part of the dapper little fellow. His small gloved hand shot out straight and caught his big friend between the eyes, and before the latter could recover he gave it to him right and left until, as the car came to a stop, he rolled off into the gutter.

He got up slowly and shuffled away without a word. The dude calmly lit another cigarette, remarking:

"These weights are a dreadful bore!"—Wanderer in Boston Times.

BANK PRESIDENT ARRESTED.

MCPHERSON, Kan., May 15.—August Hegglund, president of the Second national bank of this city, who was shot March 21st in a mysterious manner in the alley back of his house, just before his bank failed, was arrested Thursday morning on the complaint of the representatives of the Dundak college of this city. The charge is the embezzlement of $5,000 under six counts.

HOARD'S VISIT.

The Ex-Governor Given the Red Cross Degree by Janesville Order of Masons

The Session Lasted Until 4 O'clock This Morning, and Was Very Interesting to All.

The Friend of the Jersey Cow Greeted by Many From Other Cities Last Night

Janesville masons held high carnival last night.

Masonic hall sheltered many a gallant knight who had journeyed many miles to witness or participate in the work of the evening. It was ex-Governor William D. Hoard, of Fort Atkinson, who was the candidate, and none of the details of his instruction in the mysteries of the Red Cross degree of the Commandery were neglected.

The high standing of the candidate among his fellow citizens would attract general attention to his person under any circumstances, and never more so than last evening, when a belated freight train rolled into the city, the ex-governor's head thrust from a caboose window. He was met at the depot and escorted to the Windsor, where he registered for the night.

Other commandaries had heard whispers that the ex-governor was to be instructed in the Red Cross by Janesville knights, and it was made the occasion for more than usual ceremonies.

"We hear that you are going to confer the Red Cross on Governor Hoard, can we attend?" came over the wires from the commandery in Evanston, Illinois. Similar requests came from many other points, and all were given an affirmative answer.

Masonic hall was crowded therefore by visitors from far and near as well as by local members, all determined that the governor should not lack attention.

"He got all there was in it," said one of the commandery workers this morning. "We did not get through with the governor at the hall until after one o'clock this morning. Then we had a reception at the Windsor which lasted until four this morning. Yes, the governor appeared well satisfied, and was certain he got all he paid for. We had a pleasant meeting, and the banquet was one of the best."

The following delegations were present from out of the city:

Evanston Commandery No. 58, Evanston, Illinois.—Charles Haskins, Frank Foster, Bates Tott, Frank Joy, Walter Marsh, Charles Morse.

Cavalry Commandery No. 25, Woodstock and Harvard, Illinois.—M. M. Towne, J. W. Groesbeck, Phillip Saunders, J. A. Head, Otis Eastman.

Wisconsin Commandery No. 1, Milwaukee.—Thomas J. Bristol.

Beloit Commandery No. 6.—A. J. Cheney.

Fond du Lac Commandery No. 5.—W. J. Edmunds.

Port Atkinson.—W. D. Hoard, T. J. Laughlin, H. Parker, Carl Wandersneider.

Milton Junction.—C. M. Smith.

Evansville.—C. M. Smith, O. Collins, George Spencer.

Governor Hoard returned to his Fort Atkinson home on the 6:15 a. m. train, after having an hour and a half of sleep.

MR. MILLS SCORES CHURCHES.

He Wonders That Converts Come When People Are So Cold.

The Congregational church was well filled at the service last evening. Mr. Greenwood sang with marked effect the thrilling solo, "Throw Out the Life Line," the east end of the church in the chorus. Mr. Mills' subject was "Agonizing Prayer." He depicted in strong language, and with vivid illustration, the half-hearted christian and the spiritless church. God was defined, he said, as our Heavenly Father, but was never referred to as our mother. This holy and sacred office was delegated to "The Church, the Lamb's Wife." He was surprised that so many people were induced to start in the christian life where there was so much indifference on the part of the churches. The speaker had seen young converts come into a church where there was no warmth or spiritual life, and as a result they were frozen and repulsed. God can not walk through such a church, and he would not spend his time urging sinners to a better life unless the church was prepared to assume and faithfully fulfill the several obligations of motherhood.

The difference between anxiety and anguish was clearly defined. God would not have us anxious about anything, but He would have all His followers possess the agonizing spirit of prayer and earnestness. The sermon was a plain statement of facts, convincing and powerful. An after meeting held in the lecture room was well attended and very interesting.

Mr. Mills will preach again this evening, and to-morrow evening he will speak to the Sunday school workers at the First M. church.

On Sunday morning he will preach to men only at the Congregational church, and Rev. Mr. Merrill of Minneapolis, an old friend of Mr. Mills, will address the women at the Baptist church at the same time.

The stores were generally closed last evening, out of respect for the meeting.

A RACE ON THE STAGE.

Spirited Horses to Add Interest to the County Fair.

Neil Burgess' "County Fair" which enjoys the distinction of three years' run in New York, will be presented in its entirety at the Myers' Saturday evening. The play deals with homely and homelike people in homely and homelike manner. Its great beauty is its naturalness and the charms of a quiet country life "down east" has been admirably caught by the author and transferred to the stage. The play story which gives plot to the play, is a pure and charming one, and there is nothing about the characters or acting that is farcical or unnatural. Abigail Prue and Otis Tucker are characters that may be found in the east any day. They are quaint and interesting, and the little story of the love affairs and the surrounding circumstances gives ample food for an evening's enjoyment. The running race horse scene is a relevant climax to the dramatic effect. It is a superb mechanical stage and a perfect representation of a race on a track.

The three horses are thoroughbreds and are ridden by professional jockeys over a three-quarter mile dash in full view of the audience from start to finish by means of Mr. Burgess' patent race track adjustable and equally effective on any sized stage. This scene is in the acme of realism and overwhelms the astonished auditor.

The wrist was gashed clear to the bone.

WILL SELL BONDS.

$30,000 in Hall Furniture Factory Securities in the Market.

THE FACTORY TO OPEN AUGUST 1.

Seventy-Five Men Will be at Work Before The End of The Summer, and The Sale of Bonds Will Aid The Good Work.

Officers Already Appointed.

Thirty thousand of first mortgage coupon bonds will be put on sale Monday to furnish funds for equipping the Hall Furniture factory.

August first the factory is to be in operation with seventy-five skilled men at the benches, and in order to do that ten thousand dollars must be paid for machinery, ten thousand dollars provided for labor and supplies and ten thousand dollars raised to satisfy outstanding mortgages.

The bonds, which are offered in the name of the Spring Brook Improvement Company, are first mortgage coupon bonds, consisting of 120 bonds for $250 each, payable five years from May 15th, 1891; interest payable semi-annually, at rate of seven per centum per annum. Both principal and interest are payable in gold coin of the United States. In the property which is signed by George L. Carrington as president of the Spring Brook Improvement Company and by Sarah L. Carrington as secretary, this explanation appears:

These bonds are secured by a trust deed of 200 lots in Spring Brook addition, the present inventory value of which is $50,200, also of the factory and site (about two acres) of the Hall Furniture Company, together with the engine, boilers and all other machinery to be used in said factory. The factory will cost over $10,000. The machinery also will cost over $10,000. The trust deed, covering the above named property is made to C. S. Jackman, Esq., president of Rock County National bank, who has accepted this trust in the interest of the bondholders. S. B. Smith, Esq., cashier of said bank, is named in said trust deed as successor in trust. The money to be received from the sale of these bonds is to be paid to the trustee by the purchasers of bonds and is to be disbursed by him as follows: First—$10,000 is to be used by him to clear from all previous mortgages all of the property (real estate) conveyed by the deed. Second—said trustee is to use $10,000 to pay for the machinery as it is placed in the factory. Third—the trustee is to pay out on approved bills the last $10,000 for supplies, labor, etc., to be used in the manufacture of furniture by said Hall Company. For further security to the bondholders, the Spring Brook Improvement Company stockholders have transferred to Mr. Jackman as trustee, $12,500 full paid stock of the Spring Brook Improvement Co., and said parties are also to transfer to said trustee, $20,000 of the Hall Furniture Co. full paid stock, this stock also to be held by Mr. Jackman as further security for the bondholders. The property conveyed by trust deed and the stock transferred aggregates over $90,000 at its cash value. The proceeds of the sale of these bonds is to be used as above stated, solely to put up on a working basis the Hall Furniture Company, and with a prompt sale of these bonds, we shall put that factory to running with a pay roll of seventy-five skilled men as early as August 1st, next. With this factory moving, there can be no possible doubt that the 200 lots alone covered by this mortgage (trust deed) are worth, and will sell within 5 years for an average of $200 per lot, or $60,000 in the aggregate. But to pay these bonds and interest thereon the Spring Brook Company does not depend solely on the property covered by this trust deed. The financial statement of said company annexed to the circulars shows their other assets amounting to $19,573 all of which, they pledge towards the liquidation of this bonded debt. The fact that Mr. Jackman and Mr. Smith, after a careful examination of the security of the bondholders in prime evidence of the desirability of these bonds for investment.

"The Spring Brook Company make one reservation in this offering, viz.: they reserve the right to call in and pay off these bonds at any semi-annual interest day by paying principal and interest on the principal of two and one-half per cent, and we confidently expect to call in and pay off every bond within two years. There is no investment offered to the people so compact, secure and safe as these bonds, and we fully expect to place them within a short period. We desire specially to reach two classes of investors, the one, the business men of Janesville who are willing to promote and forward Janesville's prosperity by the investment of a moment of manufacturing enterprises, where they can do so safely, the other, all who are seeking safe investments for sums from $250 upward and want to place it in the most convenient and safe form. To all such, of either class, we invite the most careful scrutiny and consideration of the bonds.

Geo. L. CARRINGTON, President, SARAH H. CARRINGTON, Secretary.

In offering these bonds at par, the company reserves the right to advance the price to 102 at any time, and insists that at that price they would be most desirable security on the market.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrington and their associates will receive these bonds at par and accrued interest at any time as cash in payment for any Spring Brook, Riverside Carrington, Wheeler & Whitehead addition, Riverview and Glenetta property, and will also receive such bonds as cash in payment for any property that in future they may own or control.

Attention, A. O. C. W.

LIGHT HOUSE FOR WARDE.

The Tragedian Not Well Treated by Janesville Play Goers.

Frederick Warde and Mrs. D. P. Bowers played to a small house in Henry VIII last evening. Despite this they lapsed at no point from the high standard which they have established.

Mr. Warde's Wolsey was marked with power and dignity. In the fourth act the scene of the downfall from favor and power, he showed his ability, best and at the close received hearty applause.

The death scene of the queen dowager, Katherine, in the next act, offers an opportunity to a fine actress, and of this Mrs. Bowers took full advantage.

In the trial scene she showed fire and power to a degree remarkable in one who has seen so many years of stage life, but it was in this closing scene of the life of the virtuous and unhappy queen that her ability was shown to its best. It was admirably done—with grace and with dramatic force.

CARKEEK IS HARD AT IT.

He Will Wrestle With Quinn and Expect to Win.

Jack Carkeek was in the city to-day and shook hands with some of his admirers.

"Yes," he said, "I have broken my vow never to make another match. Tuesday I signed articles of agreement, for a wrestling match with J. H. Quinn the champion of the Pacific slope. The conditions are that the winner be awarded a purse of $100 and three fourths of the receipts, the other fourth going to the loser. Best three out of five, catch-as-catch-can. The match will take place at Rockford, Illinois, on the 21st inst. The sports will have a chance to see a real live wrestling match, for I weigh in at 190 and Quinn at 208. If I beat him I must get away with twenty pounds of extra muscle, and if he beats me he must wrestle harder than he ever did yet."

CANDIDATE FOR ALL SOULS.

Rev. G. W. Buckley to Preach in the Janesville Baptist.

Rev. G. W. Buckley, recently of Leicester, Massachusetts, will occupy the pulpit of All Souls church next Sunday at the usual hour. His subject will be "The Day of Reconciliation." Mr. Buckley comes west with a view of settling and will preach here as a candidate for the pulpit.

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAMME.

Mills meeting at 7:30 p. m.

Rock River encampment No. 3, I. O. O. F., at Odd Fellows' hall.

Olive Branch Lodge No. 36, Ancient Order of United Workmen, at Liberty Hall.

People's Lodge No. 460, Independent Order of Good Templars, at lodge room in Court Street block.

Glanders at Emerald Grove.

The statement freely circulated in Rock county that I have been treating Mr. Thomas Hanlon's glandered horses for some time back, is false and entirely misleading. Prior to Friday last, when I discovered the disease and reports to the authorities, I had not been called to his farm but once since June 27, 1890, when I operated on one of his horse's shoulders. On March 9 last I was called to treat a sick cow, and can prove by witnesses who accompanied me on that occasion that my attention was not called to any of his horses. Any person wishing to verify this statement can do so by calling at my office and examining my books. E. D. ROBERTS, V. S.

B. H. Baldwin.

Billings H. Baldwin died at 9:50 this morning, aged seventy-six years. The immediate cause of his death was an attack of grip which developed into pneumonia. Mr. Baldwin had resided in Janesville for many years. He was a pattern maker by trade and had been in the service of the Janesville Machine Company. He was a quiet unassuming man, and many friends will regret his death. His wife died some years ago, since which time he has resided with his only son, F. H. Baldwin, 111 Terrace street, where the funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The "Ad" Was Read.

Through a typographical error Heav- nrich & Co., the shoe dealers, have been brought to acknowledge that their advertisement in The Journal must be pretty generally read. On Wednesday they advertised in The Journal that they would sell on Thursday any pair of $5 shoes in the store for $3.50, provided the purchaser brought a copy of the advertisement to the store. In lifting the forms to the press the figure 3 dropped out of the $3.50, leaving it 50 cents for the $5 shoes. The accident was not noticed until the entire edition had been sent out. Now comes the fun. Heavrich & Co. are a firm that do exactly as they agree, and the result was necessarily embarrassing.

A reporter of The Journal entered the store at 2:30 yesterday and found it crowded with people from the west side and South Signal, each with the little coupons cut from The Journal, while the manager, Mr. Heavrich, held a double handful of coupons and a flourish on his handsome countenance was endeavoring to explain the mistake and showing the figures quoted in other papers. "There's the man that's responsible for all this," he said as he spied The Journal man; "he can explain how it happened." It was soon made clear to the people in the store how it happened, and then they saw that a discount of 50.00 on $5 was the biggest thing they had struck and they began buying, and each one when they left had a pair of regular $5 shoes that cost them only $3.50. Mr. Flurry has not yet said whether he would bring action against The Journal for damage to his nerves or not, but he is convinced that people read advertisements in The Journal.

The fact is The Journal circulates largely among a class who study its advertising columns for the latest news of economy and save by so doing many dollars every year.—Saginaw (Mich.) Journal.

Value of Newspaper Advertising.

Many people realize the great value of newspaper advertising. On Friday of last week a party residing in Port Jervis lost a valuable piece of jewelry. On Saturday he advertised the loss in The Union and Gazette, and on the following day (Sunday) the lost property, which had been in the mean time been found, was restored to the owner. This is only one of numerous instances which are of constant occurrence where lost articles are restored through the medium of newspaper advertising. A single insertion is generally sufficient to accomplish the purpose. The incident above mentioned also proves that honesty is not uncommon a virtue as some people suppose.—Port Jervis Union.

Proctor also has a black filly under Kelly's charge that is a handsome horse. She is a four-year-old.

D. W. Watt's gray gelding by Nestor is a fine gaited animal, and will make a trotter sure.

A chestnut mare by Ravenwood is also a promising animal and shows considerable speed.

Dixie V. 2:25; by Dixie, is a very fast mare, and will make good time this season. Dixie V. is owned by V. Simpson, of Winona, Minnesota.

Mr. Kelly will in a few days receive another addition to his string; a very promising young stallion; Gogebie

MANY FAST HORSES.

There are Now Seventy at The Fair Grounds in This City.

ALL OF THE HAVE GOOD RECORDS.

H. D. McKinney, John Kelly, J. C. Chadwick, Fred Stephenson, Josh Corning.

A. F. Phillips and N. C. Biddle, comes are Now Training.

Seventy satin coated trotters stir up clouds of dust on the Janesville tracks daily.

That is the number of flyers that are now quartered at the fair grounds, and several more are coming. The track, with the exception of being a trifle hard, is in excellent condition, and the drivers from the rival stables have many an exciting brush up the home stretch.

H. D. McKinney's Stock.

Three red barns constitute the home of H. D. McKinney's string, and fine animals they are. Mr. McKinney's horses are in charge of Albert Parker, which means that they are kept in fine condition. Then the owner himself keeps his eyes on his stock. In barn number 1 are domiciled five peerless stallions. They are Phallamont, King William S. Woodmot Wilkes, Sprague Manning and Wooderford.

Barn number 2 is the home of a dozen two and three-year-olds in training and breaking. All of them are promising youngsters, and can show considerable speed.

In barn number 3 is an aggregation of speed that is hard to equal. Almost any one of these horses can pull down a part of a purse if they do not capture first money. Phallene with a record of 2:30; Kitty Clyde, 2:39; Esperanza, a three-year-old, with a record of 2:48; Plymouth, Ogden, H. and Harry Howe, three candidates for the 2:30 class; Opulence, a three-year-old who made a quarter mile this morning, at a twenty-eight; the bay mare Queen and several others.

J. C. Chadwick's String.

J. C. Chadwick, the well known horseman from Juda has his stables at the fair grounds. Mr. Chadwick does not brag about his stock much but when it comes to winning money, Chadwick's sulky is generally up near the wire when they finish. Mr. Chadwick has his horses in a row of stalls near the track.

Kate Phallamont, 2:46; a three-year-old, is a promising young horse. At Independence she could beat 2:30 last season. Kate is a pretty bay.

Lady Phallamont's stall is next to Kate's. Lady is a three-year-old bay with black points and is now being broken and trained.

Next comes Jennie Phallamont. Jenny is also a young horse three years old and is being trained.

Jack Phallamont is a two-year-old, dark bay color. "There," said Mr. Chadwick, "he swam the dock door, 'is the fastest two-year-old in the state."

Ben Phallamont is a splendid youngster, two years old and bay in color.

J. B. is a bay stallion by Valentine Swigert. He is speedy and will trot close to 2:30 this fall.
